Deal Gently. Deal gently with the suffering. And freely let tears full ; His plaint seems greater than his woe-Perchance thou know'st not all !

Thou hast but seen the weapon hurled-The poison of that dart None saw, save God, t'was only felt By one poor, throbbing heart !

Deal gently with the suffering He erred—it may be true ; Yet stay reproach !- when God corrects, Man need not punish too.

Perhaps he did not err-thy sight Is short-judge not so fast ! A crystal soul may wear the shade Suspicion there hath cast.

Deal gently with the suffering ! Not half the cause is known ; That bitter fount which feedeth tears, The heart can know alone. The World but Grief's outside beholds

O. God! the inside strife Is only suggested at when it rends In twain the thread of life. Beal gently with the suffering! He murmurs-art thou sure

That in like sorrows thine own soul Unmurmuring would endure ? What in these ear as murmurs seems, In God's may be but moans-The utterance of anguish which Deal gently with the suffering-Be cautions to reprove ! There's gall enough within his wound-Pour there the balm of love. One drop of sympathy sincere

Can only pray in groans.

A lake of tears may calm-Tis oil upon the troubled wave-Pour, pour the precious balm ! Florence, Italy, 1855.

VARIETY. Treat your enemies as if they would some time o other be your friends.

Relations always take the greatest liberties, and frequently give the least assistance. All human virtues increase and strengthen by the experience of them. Many live miserably and meanly just to die mag nificently and rich.

He who knows his ignorance is the possessor of the rarest kind of valuable knowledge. Many pride themselves upon being wild young are only wild beasts.

Virtue forgives injury, even as the sandal tree per-fumes the hatchet that fells it. Shut not up a brood of evil passions in your bosom; like enraged sepents, they will bite their cage. Peace is the evening star of the soul, as virtue is its sun ; and the two are never far apart. WORLDLY PROSPERITY.-Worldly prosperity is much greater drain upon our energies than the most severe adversity; there is no spring, no elasticity; it is like walking through life upon a Turkey carpet. CUTE Answen —"William," said a teacher to one of his pupils, "can you tell me why the Sun rises in the East?"—"Don't know, sir," replied William, "'cept it be that the east makes everything rise."

The papers relate an anecdote of a beautiful young lady who had become blind, having recovered her sight after marriage.-Whereupon Snooks wickedly observes that it is no uncommon thing for people's eyes to open by matrimeny. A MODERN DICTIONARY .- Distant Relations .-People who imagine they have a claim to rob you if you are rich, and to insult you if you are poor.

Belle .- A beautiful, but useless insect without wings, whose colors fade on being removed from the Heart .- A rare article, sometimes found in human beings. It is soon, however, destroyed by commerce with the world, or else becomes fatal to its possessor.

Housewifery.—An ancient art, said to have been fashionable among young girls and wives; now entirely out of use, or practised only by the lower Editor -A poor wretch, who empties his brain to Wealth.—The most respectable quality of man. Virtue.—An awkward habit of acting differently from other people. A vulgar word. It creates great mirth in fashionable circles.

Honor .- Shooting a friend through the head whom you love, in order to gain the praise of a few others whom you despuse. Managers of Lotteries .- Men who pay the legis-lature handsomely for the privilege of cheating other

Law Proceedings .- Unbrushed cobwebs of the dark Bonnet .- A female head dress for the front seats

Cigar. - A slender, yellow, speckled tube, formed of the dried and folded leaves of a wonderful plant, discovered by Raleigh. When women turn false, and men selfish-when your creditor duns you like a fiend, and your debtor takes the act-when the future looks darks and the present dreary; by the fragrance of this little instrument, extracted by means of fire, you are for a brief period rendored insensible to every sorrow, and fulled into dreams more entertaining than those of sleep. Satirical Poems .- Harmless impertinence in verse.

Marriage.-The gate through which the happy lover leaves his enchanted regions and returns to Death .- An ill bred fellow, who visits people at all seasons, and insists upon their immediately returning Author .- A dealer in words, who often gets paid in his own coia.
